2. Students (and their welfare)

General characteristics:

The majority of students at Murputja are Anangu. Most students speak Pitjantjatjara at home and their only exposure to English is at school. Many students begin school or preschool without speaking any English.

There is a high level of transience among families in Kanpi and Nyapari. Students may move between communities in Western Australia and the Northern Territory regularly for cultural and family reasons. Inconsistency of attendance at school is invariably a factor for students.

Teachers and AEWs regularly connect with families to discuss student learning, well-being and behaviour. Families are always welcome in the school.

Murputja Anangu School has a strong focus on student well-being. The school understands that students learn best when their basic needs have been met. All students are provided with a daily breakfast program provided by the Red Cross. All students are provided with a daily hot lunch by the school. All students are provided with fruit in the afternoon provided by Mai Wiru.

Murputja Anangu School receives support through the Anangu Lands partnership. This support includes the Support Services Team (behaviour support, hearing and speech pathology) who visit regularly to assist students. The school has a key AEW identified to support the delivery of Pitjantjatjara in both classes. This is supported by the First Language Maintenance and Development Coordinator located at Ernabella. The school has strong relationships with Nganampa Health, Children and Adolescent Mental Health Services (CAMHS) and NPY Women's Council in order to coordinate other support for families. Anangu Coordinators and AEWs support teachers to understand, plan and respond to each child's individual needs.

Murputja School has a clear behaviour management policy, which is guided and informed by trauma informed practices and positive education strategies. The school has individual behaviour support plans in place for identified students.

Two students from the Senior Class sit as members of the School Governing Council alongside community members from the families from Kanpi, Nyapari and Watarru.

Special programmes

Students are able to participate in a weekly music lesson with a key AEW. The AEW is supported by a visit from an instrumental music teacher for two-three weeks per year to help develop this program.

All classes are involved in learning on country (bush trips) at least once a term. The teacher and AEW co-plan this learning to ensure that students continue to have exposure to traditional knowledge and stories. These trips may also link with employers such as Land Management.

Murputja Anangu School has a 20 year relationship with Port Elliot Primary School. Port Elliott students visit Murputja Anangu School every two years and Murputja returns the visit the following year. This program is highly valued by the school community. In 2017, Port Elliott will visit Murputja.

In Term 1 and Term 4, students travel to Amata Community in order to attend swimming lessons.

Senior students have the opportunity to attend the Trade Training Centre from 14 years old. The Trade Training Centre provides access to Certificate I and II in Construction, Horticulture, Hospitality and Automotive.
